Report of the Event

The Department of English, College of Applied Science, Perissery, organised an invited talk titled “From Curiosity to Inquiry: An Invitation to the World of Research in English Literature” on 7 October 2025 at the Seminar Hall. Ms Shifana P. A., Head of the Department of English, coordinated the programme.

The session commenced at 2:00 p.m. with a cordial welcome address delivered by Ms Devika J, faculty Department of English.who welcomed the gathering and introduced the theme of the talk. The invited speaker for the session was Ms Alisha Sali, Researcher, Department of English, St. Thomas College, Kozhencherry.

In her talk, Ms Alisha Sali elaborated on the process of transforming curiosity into systematic inquiry within the field of literary research. She discussed various dimensions of research in English literature, including topic selection, methodological approaches, and the significance of critical interpretation. Drawing from her own research experiences, she provided valuable insights into the challenges and intellectual fulfilment associated with academic research.

The lecture was followed by an interactive session, during which students and faculty members engaged in a stimulating discussion on research ideas, publication ethics, and emerging areas in literary studies. The session proved to be intellectually enriching and encouraged students to pursue research with greater enthusiasm and clarity of purpose.

The event concluded with a vote of thanks proposed by Ms Rajani Vijayan, faculty member of the Department of English, who expressed gratitude to the speaker for her enlightening session and to all participants for their active involvement. The session came to an end at 3:00 p.m.
